Gen. Alexander Declouet

Dear Sir,

I avail myself of the first opportunity since my return home to send you the promised statement of your account. To the statement previously rendered I have also added all the bills which have been presented to me against Paul (Declouet), and this statement is therefore final so far as I am aware, unless perhaps, Paul may have contracted some account with Mr. Dettor, about which he can inform you. The account above includes no bills whatever from Mr. Dettor. I enclose a number of bills which will no doubt render your examination of Paul's expenditures more satisfactory.

With great respect, yours truly,

William Dinwiddie
