

1893
Jan. 4

PERSONAL LETTER from George Henry Declouet at Georgetown
College, West Washington, to his aunt, Blanche Declouet in St. Martinville.
Georgetown College, West Washington
January 4, 1893

My dear Aunt:

Your good and charming letter reached me a few days ago already. I hope that you will excuse me for not having written to you sooner but truly it was impossible for me to do so earlier. I hope that you spent a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. I thought of you very often and I would have liked to be present to wish you a happy New Year. I had a very good time here. I went out every day during the holiday. It was over last night. I received a very pretty New Year card from Caro. Of course, I sent her one also. Naturally, I did not forget Miss Dupre.

Excuse that short letter because it is late and I am tired. Embrace all the family for me and receive a thousand kisses from your devoted nephew.

G. H. Declouet